

Loaded Kings - The Drinking Game Rules

Similar to Kings Cup, Ring of Fire, and Circle of Death, Loaded Kings is best enjoyed with three or more people.

1. Begin by spreading all 52 cards (54 if you are using the Jokers!) face-down in the middle of a table.
2. Choose a person to go first and continue turning over cards in a clockwise rotation, following the directions on each card.
3. Drink!

Note: Each "drink" refers to 1 sip or gulp.

Loaded Kings - "Make a Rule" Ideas

You've drawn a King! Make a Rule. If that rule is broken, the rule-breaker must drink. Previous rules can be removed or stacked on top of your new rule. The choice is yours, your Majesty! Here are some of the most common "Make a Rule" rules from around the nation:

- No using contractions.
- Everyone must say "...in bed" after every sentence.
- Put your chin on the table if you say a curse word. Keep it there until someone else curses, then it's their turn.
- No pointing.
- No using the words drink/drank/drunken.
- No using the names of anyone at the table.
- The Little Man Rule: everyone must pretend that there is a little man sitting on top of their cup. They must pick the little man up from the top of the cup (like a lid) every time they take a sip, and then must put him back on top of the cup when they aren't drinking.
- Everyone must drink with only their left hand. (Also known as the Buffalo Rule)

Loaded Kings - Using the Joker Cards

Playing with the Joker cards are entirely optional, and according to many of you, for good reason!!

If you are lucky enough to draw the Joker card and would like to make an enemy, deal this card out to another player.

Bottoms Up! This person must now finish their entire drink... and if you really want to liven things up, pass the card out to a person with a fresh drink (Just don't tell them we gave you the idea!)
